WOODEN SPOON CARVING

A talk by Carole Trowbridge

Carole carved her first spoon at an open-air workshop in May 2019, enjoyed the process and was pleased with the resulting spoon. Since then she has carved around two dozen, many as personalised gifts for friends and family, but some just for the pleasure of experimenting with different types of wood. Despite having an outline plan at the start of carving it is never certain how they're going to turn out and that's part of the fun. Carole will describe her techniques and display tools and spoons.
